Allied Physicians of Michiana
Project Date: May 2011 - February 2012

Valley Screen worked with Allison Bogunia Interior Design and the various Practice Managers and leadership of Allied Physicians of Michiana on the creation of window etch film, directional signage and lettering, custom artwork, canvas prints, dimensional lettering, and wall murals for the University Commons Medical Plaza project in South Bend. This was a renovation of an existing, mostly abandoned property. Valley Screen worked with APOM's Shery Purkeypile on the artwork for the common areas, and each individual practice to not only customize their space, but allow the patients to navigate from exam rooms to checkout with ease. An emphasis was placed on each practice having a unique look and theme, and as a result, Valley Screen created dozens of glass etch film patterns so that all could have a custom look.

"It is with great pleasure that I recommend Valley Screen. They were the finishing masterpiece to University Commons Medical Plaza. Once the architects and builders finished their wonderful work, Valley Screen came in with innovative ideas to accentuate the beauty of the new construction. The Valley Screen team were incredibly easy to work with. They worked quickly and professionally, from the creative through the installation ."
